

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

It is surely in the public interest to not revoke these regulations. They were put there for a reason. Please remember to act in the public interest--not in the interest of big business exclusively. If not, this may backfire on you, especially considering the low public opinion of "big business" and big lobbyists in general right now. I believe you should protect diversity in the media even more now than 10-15 years ago.
